

WORKSHOPS (50 minutes each)
	Room 1 (first floor)	Room 2 (second floor)
12pm	Immortal: Mourning, Martyrs & Murals (Readings, Q&A, Discussion) - Anna Campbell went to Rojava to fight in defence of the revolution & the Kurdish people. In March 2018 she was killed by Turkish forces at Afrin. Her loved ones have together created Immortal: Mourning, Martyrs, & Murals – an anthology of letters, poems, & prose about love and solidarity, learning how to keep alive those lost, and to honour their struggle in building a better world for us all.	Seeds For Change: Direct Action - So many direct action tactics! Come along to suss out what exactly IS direct action; see some awesome, inspiring examples and chat about what impacts it can have, and how you feel about it!
1pm	History of Blacklisting - A short history of blacklisting, from the Economic League (1919-1993) to the continuation of the Consulting Agency as they Blacklisted construction workers for their union activities – these organisations would attend events like the Anarchist Bookfair, taking names & details for their files to stop any one listed from working in the construction industry.	Liverpool Migrant Solidarity Network: Anti-Raids - Liverpool Migrant Solidarity Network is organising against racist and anti-migrant oppression. We will share anti-raids knowledge and information through an interactive workshop, focusing on how to be better by-standers.
2pm	Asylum Link Merseyside: Refugee Awareness - with Wole Ajagbe (Casework manager at Asylum Link Merseyside) and Emma Leaper (Caseworker ALM) - We will be discussing the issues refugees face, the role of ALM, how you can get involved in assisting refugees in Liverpool, followed by questions and discussion.	Manchester Zapatista Collective: 25 Years Since the Zapatista Uprising – Revisiting important stages in the Zapatista communities' process of autonomy since the uprising in 1994, plus looking at what has marked their recent initiatives: how to confront a government that uses left-wing rhetoric but continues with neoliberal projects in security, tourism & mining; bringing together 'women in struggle' from different areas of the world to be in solidarity with each other; and how to stay true to principles as times change without being dogmatic.
3pm	Chav Solidarity - D Hunter presents his book Chav Solidarity - part autobiography, part meditation on trauma, class and identity, part one finger salute into the face of respectability politics, but mostly an articulation of the contradictory heart of Chavvy shit heads across the U.K. Hunter will read excerpts from the book, as well as discussing its origins & surrounding issues, followed by a brief Q &A and open discussion regarding the issues raised. www.chavsolidarity.com	SolFed: The Truth About Employment Tribunals - Defending & improving employment laws is often seen as the best way to protect workers from exploitation and discrimination. This workshop will look behind the myths & slogans to focus on the true realities of Employment Tribunals and the legal system upon which they to operate, to debunk the myth that employment laws can ever be a substitute for workers taking collective action when it comes to protecting workers & improving working conditions.

THEATRE SPACE (lower ground floor)
4pm	Future Anarchy: presentation & debate - Human culture is as complex as the climate and no one is qualified to say what won't happen in the next fifty years. There is currently a growing ecological awareness, a loss of faith in government and capitalism, plus mind boggling technological possibilities. As old paradigms and powers fight for survival we will see new spaces open up for freedom. Bring an open mind, discuss the possibilities and place your own struggles and dreams in a historical, even cosmic context.

Our friend Juliette Doman left this world last week after suffering a massive bleed on her brain. Juliette was involved in the Liverpool Social Centre Collective and the setting up of Next To Nowhere from its inception and embodied the values that we work by. She was passionate in the fight for justice and the protection of animals and the environment. She had a compassionate heart, and a cool head with an incisive analysis of the current neoliberal economic system and its devastating consequences for life on earth. It was Juliette who first proposed the idea of a safer spaces policy in Next To Nowhere – bringing along ideas learnt elsewhere to help us raise our expectations of how we treat each other. She was also part of the setting up of AWOL – Angry/Amazing Women of Liverpool, Next To Nowhere's feminist group - Juliette was an amazing woman. Juliette believed in anarchism, and was inspired by the Zapatistas in Mexico whom she visited, and became committed to Latin American solidarity. She spent many years away from us in Guatemala co-ordinating the 'Mountain School' we heard so much about, which taught Spanish and helped prepare people for human rights work in the area. Juliette was recently doing her PhD supporting women who took the Guatemalan military to court for sexual war crimes, enduring a trial which was ultimately successful. Despite carrying the weight of such horrors on her shoulders Juliette was a joyful person who was a pleasure to be around, always smiling and laughing. At only 41 she has left us far too soon, but she made a huge impact in the time she was here, and will continue to inspire us in the struggle for justice, and the more compassionate world we all believe in. Rest in Power Juliette

Liverpool Anarchist Book Fair aims to be a welcoming, inclusive and safe space.

Abusive, violent, threatening or harassing behaviour will not be tolerated, and anyone acting in these ways will be asked to stop & if necessary will be asked to leave.

Oppressive language, literature or attitudes that insult, express prejudices or reinforce preconceptions about a group of people that are marginalised, disadvantaged or oppressed by mainstream society are not welcome. This includes, but is not limited to, racism, sexism, homophobia, transphobia, ableism and classism. Our event is a space for liberatory and transformative ideas and action – we refuse to normalise prejudice, reinforce oppression or recreate hierarchies.

In workshop discussions and other conversations, remember that other people will have experiences that exist outside of your own. Don't make assumptions (based on, for example, race, pronouns, class, sexual orientation etc.) Listen and be considerate of others by allowing everyone the chance to speak, if they wish. Be conscious of the language and terminology that you're using. Be aware that everyone is learning, and we are all here to support one another and strive for a better world.

If you need help or support you can go to the volunteers at the Welcome desk.

First Aid information: a list of volunteers with First Aid training is at the Welcome Desk.
